

The CANDY Cathartic

"Really DELICIOUS"

Cascarets

FOR CONSTIPATION

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

CROWN POINT NEWS

happenings Of A Day In Lake County's Lively Capital.

Mrs. C. O. Coleman was called to Nebraska on Sunday on account of the serious illness of her mother. She expects to be gone a couple of weeks.

Mrs. John Ward Wheeler entertained the C. B. Club at her home in Court street on Monday night. High score was held by Mrs. E. L. Usher and Mrs. Wheeler was awarded the consolation prize. Mrs. Wheeler will entertain the Friday Auction Club on Friday afternoon.

Miss Irene Griesel has returned to Chicago after an over Sunday visit with Miss Margaret Biegel.

Mrs. A. J. Moran and Leo spent several days in Chicago the guest of Miss Mary Lee.

Mrs. Russell Clark and Lawrence Kramer spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Krause. Miss Florence Bayman of East Chicago came to Crown Point on Saturday to be the guest of Miss Ella Goff.

Mrs. Mary Haug and daughter Victoria have returned from Chicago where they were the guests of Mrs. Haug's son.

Mrs. Henry Jansen of Chicago was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Nicholas Kaiser.

Miss Mary Hixon has been unable to attend to her duties at the Letz Mfg. Co. this week on account of illness. She is in Chicago today consulting an oculist in regard to her eyes.

Miss Ruth Shortridge returned to her studies at the Columbia School of Expression in Chicago on Tuesday after a few days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Shortridge.

Don't forget the Easter Bazaar and Bake Sale at the Presbyterian Church parlors on Saturday at 5 p. m.

HOBART

Miss Susan Portmess who for the past ten years has made her home here at the home of Mrs. Portmess and family, passed away Sunday after an illness of a few weeks. She was 88 years old. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Pio and family of Gary visited here during the past few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Loe.

Win Scharbach has purchased a new Case Sedan. He accompanied by Mr. J. Bhrast went to the factory at Racine, Wis., Friday and drove the machine home.

Mr. Lightner Wilson has purchased a new Nash touring car.

Miss Frieda Wise of Hammond visited here over Sunday as a guest of Miss Margaret Baumer.

Miss Harriet Males transacted business in Chicago yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. VanLester and their children of Hammond visited with relatives here Sunday.

Mr. George Shaw Cook of Chicago gave a lecture on Christian Science last evening at the Gen theatre.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, chills, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 10c and 25c.

How you can best protect your loved ones

Director General!

JAMES J. DAVIS of the

Loyal Order of Moose

will tell you—

watch tomorrow's issue!

RATHER DARING IS THIS DANCE FROCK

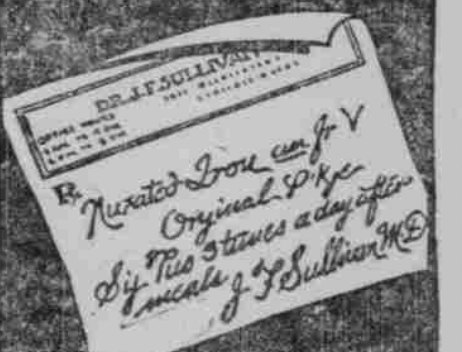

Rather daring but striking is this debutante dance frock which was designed by Elizabeth Hines, the pretty little actress playing in "See Saw" this season. Whether it will be accepted by any other than professional women is doubtful. It is fashioned of cherry and silver striped brocade cut in one piece with draping to show the stripes in different directions. Tulle forms a yoke which takes the place of shoulder straps. It is flesh colored and quite startling in effect.

ANNUITIES ARE EXEMPT

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE) INDIANAPOLIS, IND., March 24.—Insurance annuities for which payment is made in a lump sum are exempt from taxation under the state tax laws, according to an opinion by Atty. Gen. Stansbury. The opinion was in answer to a letter from the state tax board of commerce.

NUXATED

IRON

"Nuxated Iron helps put astonishing strength and energy into the veins of men and bring roses to the cheeks of pale, nervous, run-down women," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), N. Y., and Westchester County Hospital. I prescribe it regularly in cases of depleted energy, anemia and lack of strength and endurance. In my opinion, there is nothing like organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to quickly enrich the blood, make beautiful, healthy women and strong, vigorous, iron men. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Karo
IN THE BLUE CAN

SLICED bread and Blue Label Karo. Let the children have all they want, instead of high priced jams, jellies or preserves. It satisfies the natural desire for sweets and takes the place of high price store candy. Karo is a body-building, energy-producing food. Give it to the boys and girls after school when they want "something to eat."

Blue Label Karo is dandy for Home-made Candy. It is easy to make and costs much less than store candy. Write for free book of recipes.

P. S. Ask your grocer for the price of Karo by the dozen cans.

CORN PRODUCTS REFINING COMPANY
17 Battery Place New York

SENATOR POINTS OUT DANGERS

Hunger May face Americans unless Congress Readjusts Agricultural Condition.

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE) WASHINGTON, March 24.—Actual hunger may face a large proportion of the American people if congress does not do something to readjust agricultural conditions in this country. Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock

exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."

"Sometimes I think we are going to have trouble in this country more serious than any in Europe," Senator Capper, republican of Kansas, declared in the senate yesterday afternoon, in discussing the pending agricultural bill.

"A landslide" of farm labor to the industrial centers is threatening a growing food shortage which unless checked will render the farmers powerless to supply the food demands of the nation, Capper warned.

"Farmers have been handicapped by the disastrous agricultural economic system until the camel's back is broken," Capper said, "and unless substantial rewards are given for farm work a food shortage is inevitable—and it will not be long in coming."

"Notwithstanding the farmer is today marketing at a minimum profit and sometimes at a loss, he is producing more raw material per man by 20 per cent than before the war due largely to long hours and the unpaid labor of his wife and children."

"The first thing is to curb the profiteers and supply agricultural essentials, such as lumber, agricultural implements, clothing, shoes and the like at an honest price."

"To have a more prosperous agriculture situation we must encourage legislation curbing manipulation of the market and gambling by the stock exchange sharks, who seek to control unjustly the supply and the prices of foodstuffs, cotton and other necessities of life. We should also have federal supervision of the packing industry."